PERFORMANCE REVIEW:

It was a brutal quarter for US equity markets with major indices posting double digit losses. The Dow Jones Industrial Average and S&P 500 indices fell -11.25% and -16.45% respectively while the Nasdaq shed -22.44%. As a result, the CFAL Global Equity Fund lost -12.61 percent in Q2 2022 to close at a Net Asset Value of $176.874. Year to date, the Fund is down -16.73 percent. The Fund outperformed its blended benchmark by 0.07 percentage points for the quarter, but underperformed the blended benchmark by 0.29 percentage points year to date.

All asset classes and equity sectors experienced losses for the quarter. The Fund's equity holdings saw the largest decline of -16.99 percent while the fixed income portfolio lost -0.58 percent. Alternative investments, which solely includes an investment in the SPDR Gold Trust ETF, fell -6.80 percent. Cash and equivalents were slightly negative with a return of -0.01 percent. The largest sector decliners were as follows: Information Technology (-22.04%), Financials (-21.49%) and Consumer Discretionary (-20.77%).

In its April 2022 World Economic Outlook, the IMF revised its growth projections lower, forecasting an expansion of 3.6% for 2022 and 2023. This projection was 0.8 and 0.2 percentage points lower than the January outlook. The global economy continues to be affected by the lingering pandemic as well as shocks such as the Russia-Ukraine war and persistently high inflation which have set back the recovery. These shocks have rattled equity markets, which lost trillions of dollars in value over the first half of 2022. In the US, inflation rose to a 40-year high of 8.6% in May. In an effort to offset inflation, the US Federal Reserve increased rates by 50 basis points in May and 75 basis points in June. Additional interest rate increases are expected for the remainder of 2022. During this time of volatility and uncertainty, the CFAL Global Equity Fund will maintain a long-term outlook and continue to focus on selecting companies with strong fundamentals. In addition, the Fund will remain committed to holding a diversified portfolio of investments that will balance the need for asset growth and protecting Fund performance.
